with this equipment and around others performing maintenance work on this equipment, including but not limited to work with asbestos-containing insulation, gaskets, and 3 packing on this equipment, exposed Mr. McMann to asbestos." Id. 4 On October 21, 2014, IMO filed a motion for summary judgment arguing that the 5 McManns had no actual evidence supporting their allegations. Dkt. 58. The McManns 6 failed to respond. 7 Summary judgment is proper only if the pleadings, the discovery and disclosure materials on file, and any affidavits show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). 10 The moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law when the nonmoving party fails to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of a claim in the case on which 12 the nonmoving party has the burden of proof. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 13 323 (1986). There is no genuine issue of fact for trial where the record, taken as a whole, 14 could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party. Matsushita Elec. 15 Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986) (nonmoving party must 16 present specific, significant probative evidence, not simply "some metaphysical doubt"). 17 See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(e). 18

In this case, the McManns have failed to submit any evidence in support of their claim against IMO. Once the facts are disputed, the McManns must submit specific, probative evidence on every element of their claim. Their failure to either submit facts in response to IMO's motion or direct the Court to facts already in the record is fatal to their
